

BMA MEDFASH prize for improving the quality of HIV and/or sexual healthcare

The BMA Foundation will be awarding a prize of £2,000 to an organisation or initiative that has improved the quality of HIV and/or sexual healthcare in the UK.

MEDFASH was an independent charity dedicated to improving the quality of HIV and sexual healthcare that ran from 1987 to 2016. The vision of MEDFASH was for everyone who needed it to be able to receive high quality, evidence-based sexual health and HIV care, including preventive interventions.

To continue the legacy of MEDFASH, the BMA Foundation will award a prize named after MEDFASH to an organisation or initiative exemplifying MEDFASH's mission and values, which have been embedded in the assessment criteria.
